Young People Injured When Car Overturns

Misses Jean Hawk and Audrey Nielson were injured Saturday night and Allan Watson, driver of the car, Burns Larson and Grant Hall were bruised and shaken up, when the tie rod came loose, the car went out of control, through the bar pit and onto its back when it came up, remaining with wheels in the air until tipped back again.

Audrey Nielson had four ribs broken, 2 each side was bruised and shaken. Jean Hawk had her neck hurt, and while it was feared that some bones may be broken, the XRay showed a slight displacement of the vertebrae and a straining of the cords. Both girls are at home and are improving nicely. The 3 boys escaped with nothing worse than bruises and shaking up. They were indeed fortunate as the car was quite badly mashed up in the tip over. Local people brought the occupants to town and the car was towed in Sunday morning. They were returning from an afternoon in Lethbridge when the accident occurred.

WATER TREES & SHRUBS

Myron Holmes says this is the time to water trees and shrubs for winter. Irrigating them too early is harmful to them, but if you wait until the leaves have set and the wood seasoned for winter, then a right good soaking puts them in excellent condition for winter and they will commence growth as soon as spring comes.

NEWS NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Hilden Gibb spent the week-end in Raymond with Mr. and Mrs. Loren Larson.

T. K. Roberts and his crew are building a new home for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Depew on their farm south of town.

Miss Marie Piegrass of the Canadian Army, Women's Division, is enjoying a leave with her parents and other relatives now.

LAW Nova O'Brien of the R.C.A.F. stationed at No. 10 Repair Depot, Calgary spent a week-end leave with her mother and other relatives here.

Egg prices are still going up, Monday's Lethbridge quotation being 42c. for A large. They have only half a cent to go now to hit the ceiling. Pullets are coming into production very rapidly now.

Notice

The publicity committee of the local Victory Loan Organization are very desirous of securing photos of all men and women in the Armed Forces, and during next week a canvasser will call upon you to secure this. It will be taken care of and will be returned to you in good order. It is hoped that every one will assist in this enterprise.

It might be mentioned the plans are proceeding to give Raymond another "bang up" show for the opening drive for this the New 5th Victory Loan. Also a special sun-set band is being planned for Saturday evening October 17th.

It is urged that everyone give their utmost in service and finances to "Speed the Victory."

NEWS NOTES

Mrs. Leo Hancock of Magrath is visiting here this week with friends and relatives.

Merle Summers of the R.C.A.F. is home on two weeks leave from his training station.

Roi Stone has his foot in a cast in an effort to clear up the effects of the burn he received a month and a half ago.

The 2nd Ward Relief Society held their opening social Tuesday afternoon and from the ice cream that was taken up there was should like to have attended. A very enjoyable afternoon is reported.

Raymond had a bombing Saturday afternoon when planes from the No. 8 Bombing and Gunnery School at Lethbridge dropped a load of leaflets in town advertising the Big Jam-boree and Carnival for Saturday evening, October 9th.

Beet deliveries are hitting a new high as the fine weather continues. A number of small growers are already finished their beet harvest and quite a large number will be finished the end of this week. Sugar content is exceptionally high, some samples running as much as 22 pc. Last Saturday 1,500 tons of beets were sliced to set an all time high for the local mill.

Raymond was officially represented in the 8th Army's advance in Italy, when Ted Court was driver of a Sherman tank which withstood three hits and a mine blast, from the enemy and kept right on fighting until it was set on fire. This happened in the village of Motta and it was the only one of three which started the 5,000 yard journey from the Canadian positions to reach the village. Wednesday's Herald carried the story.

Raymond Bascom Laid To Rest

Funeral services over the remains of John Raymond Bascom, aged 41, who passed away last week, were held in the 2nd Ward Church Sunday afternoon with Bishop L. L. Palmer in charge. The hall was filled to capacity with friends of deceased, many of whom had driven long distances to show their respect to his memory. The pearl grey casket and the rostrum were banked with flowers, and even the weather seemed to be at its best. Pall bearers were all playmates and close acquaintances of Raymond's over the period of his life, being Ray Depew, Orrin Turner, H. Ruben Snow and Andy Art and Clark Lund.

The choir, made up of members of both ward choirs, was conducted by Jos. McLean with Mrs. Jas. E. Anderson at the organ. The opening hymn was "Oh My Father" and the opening prayer was by Enoch Lybert of Glenwood an uncle of deceased, after which the choir sang "Sometime We'll Understand."

Jas. E. Meeks was the first speaker and stated that since deceased was a young man he had worked on and on each year for Meeks Bros. and that they had never had an employee who was more dependable and loyal to his work than Raymond. He had a way with stock that made him a very valuable man and with everyone else he was very much upset over his passing, hoping with everyone else that he would soon recover and be about his work again. He knew that Raymond's boys would carry on the work their father had started, and he was very glad that deceased had been able to get a ranch, and have it partly stocked, which had been his great ambition for a number of years. He referred to "Tommy's" interest and work in Stampedes over a great many years, and said that as a pickup man in the arena he had no superiors and very few equals. He told of one admirer, who after watching part of the show asked who the pick-up man was, and when told, the visitor said "I came here to see the show, but that man and his work has fascinated me to the exclusion of all else. I never watched a man and the rostrum with such timing and skill in this work." Everyone acquainted with rodeo work could truthfully say the same about deceased. He spoke of the plan of salvation and urged all to prepare for death as it would come to all of us and he hoped that all would be as full of faith as Raymond was. He extended hope to the sorrowing wife and family, and said that through the plan of redemption and eternal life they would have the opportunity of being together again and seeing the fulfillment of their most cherished hopes.

T. K. Roberts sang "Lay My Head Beneath a Rose."

Jas. H. Walker, former bishop of the Ward and lifelong friend of deceased expressed his appreciation of this friendship and said that friendship was the most valuable thing in life and without it life would be very empty. People in small communities were greatly blessed in that one person's troubles were everyone's troubles and there was both sympathy and understanding that larger cities did not enjoy. He spoke of the parents of both deceased and his wife and paid tribute to the community work they had done in the pioneering of Raymond and said that the children had a wonderful heritage. He referred also to the work of deceased in the Stampede circuits of the West and said that cowboys, who had taken part in rodeos all over the world had never known a pickup man like

LIONS MEETING

The Raymond Lions met in the Sugar Bowl Monday Oct 4 after a short vacation during the busy season.

The meeting opened in the usual manner with Lion O. H. Snow offering prayer.

Pres. G. Snow was in the chair and thanked the members for their presence and hoped the club was off to a good start for the coming activities.

Community singing was enjoyed by the members.

Chairman of the Program Committee, Lion Rulon Dahl introduced the Allred girls who sang two very pleasing duets for which they were given the Lions Roar. The girls followed with another number.

Jim Weaver's name was added to the Honor Roll.

It was decided to level the skating rink in readiness for the coming season.

A special War Bond Program will be arranged for the next meeting on October 18th.

The meeting closed in the usual manner.

After the closing of the regular meeting a special meeting for the Directors was called at which much business was discussed.

"Speed the Victory" is the slogan of the Fifth Victory Loan, and it won't be many days until you will have the chance to do your bit for Victory.

equal of Raymond Bascom, and that in his opinion many accidents had been prevented and probably lives saved by Raymond Bascom's work, and that all of the cowboys had perfect confidence in him. It takes all kinds to make a community, said the speaker, and in the field in which deceased had chosen to work, he had succeeded remarkably well. A lover of sport, and of stock, he had taken great delight in Stampede work, and he had become expert in the part he chose to play in these things. He urged the boys who had started trick riding, to uphold the record of proficiency in this as their father did in his work. He spoke of the redemption of mankind wrought out by the Savior, and said that in the great plan the family would be reunited again to share each other's happiness and joys if they lived worthy of this blessing.

"The Last Roundup" was sung by Jos. McLean.

Bishop L. L. Palmer spoke of his friendship for deceased and the family and the loss that he felt in Raymond's death. He read two of Edgar A. Guest's poems on death, and said that in view of the suffering Raymond had endured, death was probably a great blessing to him and that we should not mourn unduly over his passing in view of the suffering that was ended by it. Life was a great school, an opportunity for us to learn and to school ourselves, and that death was merely a promotion to greater and nobler things. On behalf of the family he thanked all for the kindly and thoughtful assistance that had been rendered by everyone.

The Choir sang "Shall We Meet Beyond the River" and the benediction was pronounced by O. H. Snow.

A large cortege followed the remains to the cemetery where interment was made with Christensen Bros. in charge.

TREASURY BROADCAST

Changes just now effective in the Interim Program were designed to remove obstacles which have prevented many persons from using the branches. Hon. Solon E. Low declared in a recent broadcast. He said every treasury branch will operate as a local office for various government departments and will handle fire and life insurance, issue licenses and permits and conduct an information service.

Administration of estates were to be offered to the people of Alberta, Mr. Low stated. Hitherto the people have been dependent upon private trust companies and similar institutions for this service. This he said, was an important feature of the expansion of treasury branch services.

Most important changes in Alberta's Interim Program were in regard to the Consumer bonus and the basis upon which it was paid, the Provincial Treasurer continued. The 5 per cent bonus on Alberta trade made goods has been eliminated, but there is a bonus of 2 per cent on all goods purchased from a retailer with vouchers. The maximum bonus for any one account is two dollars per month. Mr. Low also explained that deposits of transfer vouchers could in future be withdrawn in cash.

years, and in the United States there is a tendency towards medium sized chickens. In the export market, if Canadian poultry can begin again after the war where it left off, it will be a distinct asset to the industry, states the Department poultry production officials. No product exported during peace time had gained a better reputation than Canadian dressed poultry. This reputation was not gained by wishful thinking but by constructive effort on the part of Canadian producers and those connected with the poultry industry.

WHAT PUBLIC WANT IN DRESSED POULTRY

In 1942 more than 270,000,000 pounds of dressed poultry were produced and it is expected that this figure will be greatly exceeded in 1943. To hold at least a part of the great increase in poultry consumption it will be necessary to market birds with even more flavour, states the Dominion Department of Agriculture. This means that more Grade A Milkfed and Grade B Milkfed birds will have to be marketed, because the public has found these high grade birds have the most pleasing flavour and are the most tender and palatable. In the words of the trade, they are "repeat" birds.

A study of consumer preference discloses that producers would find it profitable to concern themselves about the size of bird consumers want. In turkeys, the demand is mostly for 10 to 16 lb. birds, although experience shows there always will be a demand for a percentage of large turkeys, 17 to 25 lb. However, the 10 to 16 lb. turkey is the popular selling size in the large consuming centres, and any great percentage of large turkeys in normal times is likely to go begging for a market.

With respect to large and medium sized chickens it appears that the medium size will be the most popular, with large birds in limited demand. Great Britain has always favoured a medium sized bird for many
